Two UPS Freshmen Track Astronaut's Orbital Flight

Two freshmen, Roger Nace, a pre-med student, and Bob Greisel, followed the orbiting of Col. John Glenn in the "Friendship 7" last Tuesday, on their own tracking station. They set up the station one week prior to the original blast off date, about the second week in January.

When the "Friendship 7" was launched, Nace and Greisel were able to hear "2-1-0 lift off!" and also the actual blast off of the rocket.

During Glenn's second and third orbits, the UPS students were able to hear him twice, saying: "Mercury Control, this is 'Friendship 7', bye." They could hear tracking stations all over the world talking to Glenn, but those from Hawaii to Florida were most audible. A rotating antenna permitted Nace and Greisel to follow and pinpoint Glenn's progress from horizon to horizon.

The radio picked up the countdown for the retro's on Glenn's third orbit. Nace and Greisel heard Hawaii tell Glenn not to jettison his retro's over as planned, and California confirmed this. They heard Texas finally give him the order to fire his retro's.

Both Nace and Greisel became interested in radio work about eight years ago. Nace heard the first Russian satellite, Sputnik I, in the fall of 1957. He sent a card to Moscow telling that he heard the satellite, and received a reply in two days.

The committee is made up of not only those directly concerned with education but also representatives of the academic departments of the colleges and universities of the state, said Shelmidine.

At the meeting this week, reports from members will be heard concerning the effectiveness of the program, and further suggestions to the State Board of Education will be considered.

NEW ASB SECRETARY JUDI FRERICHS

CB Hires ASB Receptionist

"Yes, I like my job," said Miss Judi Frerichs enthusiastically as she looked up from her work to be interviewed by Trail reporters. Miss Frerichs is the first ASB office receptionist to be hired by Central Board.

Her office hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and her duties include typing, answering phone calls, dispensing with recreation room equipment, issuing insurance forms, and general office work. Sometime this week Miss Frerichs' office will officially be located in room 205 in the Student Center.

The new ASB receptionist is originally from Illinois and attended Illinois State Normal University for one year. She then worked for the University of Illinois for two years and is presently living with friends here in Tacoma.

Central Board created this position expressly for the purpose of having someone in the ASB office at all times to act as receptionist, said Sam Lassiter, ASB vice president. Miss Frerichs is being paid with ASB funds allocated by Central Board.

Miss Frerichs began her work here several weeks ago.

Newsletter Reports UPS Achievements

"Insight," a new monthly newsletter designed for businessmen, will report to the community what the University of Puget Sound is accomplishing in academic fields. It will try to show the influence of UPS on the community and the influence the community has on UPS, according to Bob Hunt, alumni director. It is hoped that this will fulfill part of the two way public relations program between the school and the public.

"Insight" will be sent to businessmen, corporations and industry. Parents of students and prospective students will also receive copies.

The first issue discusses the science program at UPS with an emphasis on research and independent student study on the undergraduate level. Students

Comment

IN the southern U. S., there exists Negro-White conflicts; in northern Africa, French Algerian conflicts; in the middle east, Arab-Jew conflicts; and here at UPS, independent-Greek conflicts. The friction between Greeks and non-Greeks here is quite ludicrous, and most of the problem could be solved by the adoption by the parties concerned of a mature viewpoint.

If one lists the things that Greeks and Indians have in common, one can deduce that there is no reason for conflict. They are both student groups at UPS. They both supposedly are here for the purpose of furthering their education. They drink coffee in the same student center, attend classes in the same buildings, and cannot be told apart on the street. Both want an able, fair student government. Yet, with all these things in common, there seems to be constant friction.

What is the cause of bad feelings? In the first place, it should be noted that the friction occurs between a relatively small part of each of the two factions. These small parts make themselves heard, however. A member of one of these was the fraternity boy who created the phrase "G.D.I." Another was the unaffiliated chap who brought forth the statement that all Greeks are the snobbish children of rich men.

That both of these statements are childish is evident, yet they persist, year after year, aided by a tendency in humans to attribute to an entire group the characteristics of a member of that group.

The present uproar is over a proposed change in the representation on Central Board to be voted upon by the student body this week.

The change will: (1) eliminate the one Independent Students Association representative, (2) ensure that the two dorm representatives will be unaffiliated. Town non-Greeks dislike this, as they say that they will have no representative. Is one needed? How many town, or for that matter, dorm students come to Central Board with a complaint? Very few indeed. If the new plan is passed, there will be two members of Central Board that must be Greek, and two members who must be independent. The choice of the rest of the officers is up to the student body.

Some independents have said that the Greeks "run" Central Board. The Greeks constitute less than one-third of the student body, but they generally vote in the elections. With less than 900 votes cast in the last election, it is obvious that some students are not taking advantage of the democratic method of choosing Central Board members.

The main point is that there should not be any difference in the way a student officer performs his duties be he Greek or independent. Perhaps some day students will vote for the man and not the party.

★ LETTERS to the EDITOR ★

To the Editor:

The student body elections are almost upon us. As a result of trouble last year, the judiciary committee has reviewed the Constitution and suggested certain changes. The most important change proposed is the one eliminating the Independent Student Association's representation from Central Board. The argument put forward is the fact that this representative does not adequately represent the independent students, yet the president of the student body, Tom Jobe, in an open letter stated that such a member should be on Central Board.

The Independent Student Association meets, now and has in the past, regularly every Monday evening in the Student Center. The representative to Central Board has been there and accessible to any non-affiliated student, on campus or off, who desired to speak to him. This vote is being eliminated from Central Board.

In place of the Independent representative one will have to try to catch a class president or delegate at large and express views to them. But, the classes as organizations on this campus are for all practical purposes non-existent. Meetings if and when held are not widely publicized or are announced shortly before they take place. As of this time the Senior class has held no meetings, the Junior class no meetings, the Sophomore class two meetings — and these people vote on Central Board as representing their constituents.

Then there are the delegates at large. These positions are desirable to retain. The people holding them are said to be accessible to all students. However, it has been my experience that it is not always so. Recently I tried to approach one of these delegates. He refused to listen to my comments about the change in representation now under consideration. This makes me wonder very seriously, just how well independent or other non-affiliated students will be represented on Central Board.

Under the present system the Independent representative is available every Monday evening to those who wish to speak to him and he is representing an organized body.

I hope that you in the student body will give these points some thought and then Vote NO to the proposed change.

Editor, The Trail:

"If the first words fail . . . ten thousand will not then avail."

Contrary to popular opinion the ASB Judiciary Committee is not endeavoring to subvert the Independent Student Association; rather, we are attempting, through making their representative a non-voting member, to equalize Central Board Representation.

Presently, the Independent Representative has a constituency of less than sixty. Therefore, he does not represent all non-affiliated students. Nevertheless, this group, which in many respects resembles a rotten borough, is trying to create the impression that they do represent all non-affiliated students. And yet, they feel they warrant a vote on Central Board.

Arguing on this plain, would it not be equally fair for each Sorority and each Fraternity to have a voting member on Central Board?

Their representative has presented to Central Board a weak and apparently hastily devised plan by which his constituents hope to embrace all non-affiliated students. Although they are considered a social organization, they failed to realize that no social organization on campus may exceed seventy-five members. Also, non-affiliated men and women living in the dormitories are presently represented on Central Board through the two dorm representatives.

And in talking with several dorm students, they have no desire to be included in the proposed Independent plans. Furthermore, the non-affiliated town students are represented by both the delegates-at-large and the four class presidents. Therefore, they will be represented if the Constitutional Recommendations are approved. And to those town students that complain because the present delegates-at-large are Greek students we can only say that you have the potential voting power to secure not just the three delegate position, but fourteen out of sixteen voting seats on Central Board.

The numerous glittering claims made by the Independent Student Association, many of which have been borrowed from the Tamanawas, are largely representative of the group as it once existed. Their organization plans have yet to be realized. Until the ASB Judiciary Committee observes the fruition of these claims and plans, we will not operate on supposition. How do you stand, Sir?

In conclusion, we would encourage the Student Body to apply the following quotation to the Independent Association's claims: "Take a second look . . . it costs you nothing."

ASB Judiciary
Committee

Trail Editor:

As independent students on this campus we would like to express our concern for the possibility of the independent student losing his voice in student government. This voice for the past year has been in the form of I.S.A. Representative to Central Board.

Central Board created this position last year by a constitutional change. Apparently they felt that I.S.A. and the independent student have an important place on this campus. This was substantiated by devoting three and a half pages to I.S.A. in last year's Tamanawas. We would like to quote the 1961 Tamanawas:

"Offering a complete program of activities for the student who is not affiliated with a fraternity or sorority, the Independent Student Association has proved to be one of the socially prominent groups on the U.P.S. campus."

I.S.A. also offers to these individual students a representative to student government. Central Board now proposes to completely eliminate the group from student government. Why?

We say NO to the proposed constitutional change!

In our job of exploring and drilling for oil we come across all kinds of small furry animals like these.

Water wells, essential to our drilling operations, nourish thirsty plants and animals... and nesting and breeding ponds are built for wild fowl.

When wells are in, we assure new growth by reseeding grassland and by planting new trees in the work area.

Last year's show featured the work of 52 artists representing 21 states chosen from all sections of the country.

Advanced Music Recitals Given by Degman, Oncley

Francis Macdonald Degman, violinist, and Laurance Oncley, baritone, gave an advanced music students' recital last Friday, Feb. 23, in the music building recital hall at 8:15 p.m.

Mrs. Degman played "Praeludium and Allegro" by Kreisler, "Romance in F, Opus 50" by Beethoven, and "Concerto for Violin and Piano" by Tchaikowsky. She was accompanied by Judy Kelly Parker on the piano.

Oncley sang a group of four German folk songs; excerpts from operas of Mozart, Bizit, and Verdi; and songs by Copeland, Williams and Duke.

Float Clinic at Hotel Winthrop

Tuesday evening (Feb. 27) the annual Float Clinic for the Puyallup Valley Daffodil Festival will be held in tie Bayview room of the Hotel Winthrop.

Parade day this year will be April 7 and float builders have this year's Century 21 (Seattle World's Fair) Exposition as festival theme.

Open to the public, the float clinic will combine a panel of five experts on construction, design and use of materials for floats. All possible help to float builders will be given, with an eye to getting the best possible float constructed and entered in the 1962 three-city parade.

New this year is the change in parade rules that permits more liberal use of artifical materials. Half of the decorations must be daffodils, while the remaining 50 per cent shall be other flowers, natural greens, other types of vegetation and other decorative material, such as foil or floral sheeting.

The Float Clinic will start at 7:30 p.m.

Phi Delts, Sigma Nu Win in Intramural Basketball Action

In one of only two intramural basketball games played last week, Phi Delta Theta squeaked by Sigma Chi, 34-31, in a defensive thriller at the Girls' Gym.

The contest broke a three-way first place tie in the intramural league between Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, and Phi Delta Theta, placing the Phi Delts and Sigma Nu in a deadlock for first place, a full game ahead of Sigma Chi, Todd Hall, and Beta Zeta Pi.

John Whalley, Phi Delt center, poured in 15 points in the second half to finish with 19 tallies and lead all scorers. Gary Fulton, an able rebounder, countered with 14 points to lead Sigma Chi.

A tight 10-8 first quarter score held by Phi Delta Theta was retained at the intermission by an 18-16 count. The Phi Delts then moved to a seven point advantage only to see it melt when the Sigs climbed within one point, 27-26. But a short rally put the Phi Delts ahead at the Klaxon, 34-31.

Sigma Nu held onto their first place co-leadership by drubbing New Hall, 64-36, in the othed Tuesday night tilt.

A close 14-9 first period Sigma Nu lead was soon widened when New Hall failed to score in the second stanza. The halftime score read Sigma Nu 30, New Hall 9.

Joe Wingard tallied 19 points for New Hall to lead all scorers. Joe Thinnies dropped in eight tallies for New Hall. On the winners side, Harlan Patterson bucketed 16 and Jack Kern followed with 13 points.

LARRY DUMOUCHEL, psychology major, makes use of mirror device in experimental psychology laboratory.

Psychology Class Offers Insight, Experimentation

Experimental psychology, a requirement for psychology majors as well as being open to anyone who has sufficiently passed general psychology, is designed to offer students insight into the problems connected with this particular phase of psychology.

This three hour class meets twice a week, one meeting being a two hour lecture and the other being a three hour laboratory. During the lab the students conduct individual and classroom experiments ranging from card sorting to mirror drawing. On the basis of performance results the class is then divided into two groups, the experimental group and the control group. Depending on the particular situation, these groups are compared or contrasted through statistical equations and formulas. Each student is then required to make an individual lab report containing graphs, charts, and an analysis of the results.

The two hour lecture (which usually does not take the full amount of time designated) supplements material which is being studied in the laboratory.

Black Eyes

Don't laugh at that black eye. It can be a serious injury, a Texas scientist advises. Visible signs of a black eye can hide an underlying injury, such as a fracture of the eye socket.

Heart Attacks

Minerals in hard water may contribute to heart attacks, a DuPont Corporation scientist reports. In an eight-year study of employees, he found no relationship between smoking and heart attacks.

Windmill Comeback?

The windmill may be the best answer to electric power needs in newly-developing lands, a report to the United Nations indicates. Windmills are still used to pump water on some U.S. farms.

Lung Cancer

The increase in lung cancer is due chiefly to improvement in clinical diagnosis, a New York scientist reports. People are also living longer and becoming victims of cancers of various types, he said.

The Lucky Logger

By STAN FARBBER

The officials who select the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics have announced the following District playoff selections: Whitworth at Eastern on Tuesday and Pacific Lutheran at Western on Friday.

Where is UPS? It took the NAIA officials more than six hours to decide the fourth spot in the playoff. They had three choices: (1) Send Evergreen Conference Tournament winner Whitworth direct to Kansas City, (2) Play a three-team district tournament with Whitworth, Eastern and Western the participants, (3) play a four-team district tournament.

According to Mark Salzman, PLU athletic director and a member of the committee, each method was carefully considered before the final decision was made. This reporter phoned Salzman shortly after the decision was announced, and he explained that the Lutes were picked over UPS on final regular season conference standings and season record.

John Heinrick, UPS athletic director, made a strong pitch for a playoff game between the Loggers and PLU for the fourth spot, but this idea was rejected when the committee produced a directive from national NAIA headquarters in Kansas City allowing only four teams in the playoffs this year (last year five State of Washington teams were allowed to compete).

It seems only fair to this reporter that a three-team tournament should have been the result. It does not seem quite right to pick either PLU over UPS or UPS over PLU. Neither team deserved to get the nomination. If a fourth team was to be selected, then would it not be right to have UPS and PLU play it off?

The NAIA officials had been committed to accept only the top two teams in the tournament and possibly the third place team plus the top independent. When Seattle Pacific College threw in with the National Collegiate Athletic Association tourney, a monkey wrench was thrown into the works.

The essential criticism is the conference tournament where — taking nothing away from a surprising, hustling and spirited team like Whitworth took the title — a team which finishes last in the league can possibly earn the trip to Kansas City. A team would not have to win a single game during the regular season, then get hot in the league and district tournaments to get the trip to the national classic.

From all indications, it seems that there will be no Evergreen Conference tournament next season. This one is rumored to have lost money, and the results of the actual games plus the financial reasons seem to forecast its doom.

If the NAIA committee would make known the exact requirements to the district tournament before the season starts, then there would be no arguments over which team is to be selected. For the past three seasons, UPS has, in some way, managed to be denied the right to get into the district tourney through rule changes and other factors.

Two years ago, fifth place Eastern was selected to a district berth over third place UPS. Although the Loggers finished two notches higher in the league standings than did the Savages, the Cheney collegians were picked because of an East-West format.

Last year, the Loggers were bypassed in the East-West format in favor of Seattle Pacific, a team which the Loggers had beaten twice, once by almost 20 points. The Loggers also played a more representative schedule against the other teams in the state than did the Falcons and also compiled the best won-lost record in matches against the other four schools on this side of the mountains.

It is really a shame that the Loggers couldn't get some recognition — as long as PLU was picked — because they finished higher in the league tournament than did the Lutes.

Here are some comments from Seattle Pacific's highly-successful coach Les Habegger concerning Logger Bob Sprague:

"After having played against Bob Sprague four times in the past two years I feel I can give a fair evaluation of his ability or at least his performance.

"After our last game with UPS certainly I have nothing but 'bad' comments. Bad from the opposing coach's view in as much as he almost beat us single-handedly. Bad, not in any derogatory manner. I feel Bob probably has the brightest future of any college sophomore I have ever seen. The improvement he has made is really fantastic. His physical attributes along with his skill in basketball makes him the most feared of any ball player Seattle Pacific has to face in the next two years."

Scott Weatherwax 3rd High Scorer

Scott Weatherwax, University of Puget Sound basketball captain, is the third cager in Logger history to amass a 1,000 point total while wearing the Maroon and White uniform.

The slender senior from Aberdeen has now tallied 1,010 points during his three seasons at UPS. He scored his 1,000th point with 6:50 remaining in the first half of the Feb. 17 game against Pacific Lutheran University.

The athletic department records, however, include only records against collegiate opposition. So "Wax's" total will be 956 points in 67 collegiate games. He will still rank as the third highest scorer in Logger annals. In three other games — against AAU opponents — the 6-5 180-pound forward has tallied 54 points.

The all-time leaders are Jake Mayberry who scored 1,232 points in 79 collegiate games between 1950-53 and Rod Gibbs who tallied 1,075 points in 85 collegiate games between 1948-51. All three — Weatherwax, Mayberry and Gibbs — played only three seasons in a Logger uniform.

Weatherwax, who has led Logger scorer and rebounders the past two seasons, is now third behind Bob Sprague and Bill Hansen in both departments this campaign.

WRA Sponsors Basketball Tournament

Women's Recreation Association is sponsoring an intercollegiate state basketball conference to be held on March 2 and 3. The meet, much like the hockey conference held at WSU, will consist of three games and a banquet on Friday night at the Top of the Ocean. No winner will be declared in the round robin tournament.

The 18 schools participating in the conference are UPS, Centralia, Central, Clark, Columbia Basin, Everett, Eastern Lower Columbia, Olympic, PLU, Seattle Pacific, Skagit Valley, University of British Columbia, University of Washington Western, Whitworth, and WSU.

Heinrick Awards Trophy to Lutes

John Heinrick, University of Puget Sound athletic director, presented the Tacoma Athletic Commission Tournament trophy to Pacific Lutheran University's basketball team at the Lute chapel last Tuesday.

Heinrick congratulated the PLU team and coaching staff on winning the trophy and the Evergreen Conference regular season basketball championship. He received an ovation from PLU students.

The Logger coach was representing both UPS and TAC Board of Directors of which he is a member. This is the first time that an athletic official from either PLU or UPS has presented a trophy or athletic award to the other school.

Loggers Take Fourth Place In Evergreen Hoop Tourney

The University of Puget Sound basketballers, third in regular season Evergreen Conference standings, wound up fourth in the first annual league tournament held at Pacific Lutheran University last weekend.

Whitworth's upstart Pirates, last in the conference standings and entering the tourney with a 5-18 record, finished first, edging second-place Eastern Washington 64-63 in the championship game Saturday night. Western Washington took third place by dumping PLU 74-70, relegating the Lutes to fifth position. The Knights won the regular season championship.

UPS clobbered Central Washington 71-54 Friday evening to take fourth and send the reeling Wildcats to a sixth place position.

In the Friday semi-finals, Whitworth toppled Western 60-50 and Eastern bounced PLU 77-71.

First-round action Thursday resulted in Eastern's 64-48 win over UPS and Whitworth's 52-42 victory over Central.

Every game in the tournament except the UPS win over Central was figured as an upset as favorites toppled at a rapid pace.

Eastern stunned the Loggers Thursday night with a tight zone defense. UPS could only manage to score on nine of 44 field goal attempts in the first half and wound up with a 20-for-80 effort for the evening. Bill Hansen's contribution of 19 points (including 9-for-16 from the field) was the only bright spot for the Loggers who, after the opening five minutes, were never in contention to win the contest.

The Savages managed to score only three more field goals than did the Loggers (who actually outscored the Cheney collegians 28-27 in the second half) but it was a case of too little too late.

The Loggers never trailed in easily whipping the Central Wildcats Friday evening. UPS trailed 36-26 at halftime and Coach Wally Erwin played reserves the final 10 minutes of the contest. The hot-shooting Loggers hit at a 48 per cent clip from the field and added 21 charity tosses in 30 attempts.

Dick Crowe paced the Puget Sounders with 17 points, closely followed by Hansen with 14 counters.

The Logger season record now stands at 14-9.

UPS scoring:

Eastern game: Weatherwax 2, Strain 0, Sprague 10, Crowe 4, Hansen 19, Pfeifer 1, Abelsett 3, Wilde 0, Carey 0, Goss 4, Wolf 0, Ash 5.

Central game: Weatherwax 2, Strain 7, Sprague 6, Hansen 14, Crowe 16, Abelsett 0, Wilde 2, Goss 4, Ash 7, Carey 8, Moore 4.

'A' Hoop Tickets May Be Purchased

Pre-tournament sale of tickets for the Class A prep basketball tourney scheduled for the University of Puget Sound Fieldhouse March 7-10 is now under way.

Season tickets, good for all 26 games, may be purchased for $5.00 at the UPS athletic department or Fieldhouse office, SK. 9-3521, extensions 744 and 742.

Four-session ducats, good for any four sessions, are being sold by the Tacoma Athletic Commission for $3.00. The TAC is located at 733 Commerce Street. The phone number is BR. 2-3221.

Schools which have already earned berths in the 16-team double-elimination tourney so far are Eatonville, Selah, Cheney, and Chewelah. The remainder of the field will qualify through playoffs and district tournaments this week.

Trackmen Begin Training Program

Coach Harry Bird asks all those interested in turning out for track and weren't able to attend the meeting yesterday at the Fieldhouse get in touch with him or the athletic department office as soon as possible.

Bird also stresses that all those who wish to compete for the varsity track squad should continue to work out daily at the new UPS track or Wilson High School.

Full-scale turnouts will begin the middle of March.

Baseballers are reminded that Coach Bill Funk has called a meeting for March 12 for all those interested in turning out for the varsity squad. Meeting place is the Fieldhouse.

Choppers To Vote On Membership

President Chris Cherbas has announced that an important meeting of the Choppers has been scheduled for Wednesday night at 9 o'clock in the Student Center.

Because many students left for home last Wednesday to celebrate Washington's Birthday, no meeting was held last week.

This week's meeting will include discussion and voting on additions to the Chopper membership roster. Second-semester freshmen were granted permission to apply for membership at a recent meeting.

Lisette Shaw, Joan Davies, Paula Cross, and Dixie Lee Schepper under the direction of Nancy Jane Bare, instructor from Annie Wright Seminary, will present a pre-classic dance recital Wednesday, Feb. 28, at 8:30 in the music building recital hall.

These girls became interested in pre-classic dances through a music history class. During the recital they will be accompanied by Carolyn Harer Hoover.

Students Receive Penberthy Award

The physics department recently announced that Penberthy Instrument Company scholarship awards have been given to four UPS students. Receiving the awards were Clyde Abbott, Richard Stolarski, Robert Stovall, and Fred Wilde.

H. Larry Penberthy, president of Penberthy Instrument Company and Penberthy Electromelt Company, and an alumnus of CPS, has set these awards up as an annual scholarship program.

Magazine Selects 2 UPS Co-eds To Represent College

Pat Danforth and Jacqueline Johnson, seniors, have been appointed to represent the University of Puget Sound on Mademoiselle's college board. These girls are among 805 students from 335 colleges who will report to Mademoiselle this year on the college scene.

Eventually 20 girls will be selected from the 805 to be guest editors and will be sent to New York for four weeks next June to help edit the August issue.

Logger Dick Pruett Loses In Seattle Golden Gloves

Dick Pruett, hard-hitting University of Puget Sound boxer, lost a decision in the opening round of the Seattle Golden Gloves last Wednesday at the Seattle Civic Ice Arena.

The ex-Logger All-Evergreen fullback, fighting under the Tacoma Athletic Commission colors, won the Tacoma Golden Gloves heavyweight crown in January.

All men interested in turning out for varsity track, and those interested in turning out for varsity tennis or learning how to play tennis should report to the athletic department office as soon as possible. Lyle Morton has been appointed tennis coach and instructor.

The Chapel Chorus under the direction of Dr. Charles Fisher will sing "If God Be For Us Who Can Be Against Us?" Miss Sue Czech will play a ten minute call to worship on the Kilworth Memorial Carillon immediately before the Thursday Chapel Service.

Miss Kathy Paine will accompany the Chapel Chorus and serve as the pianist for the service.

Puget Sound Romps to Easy Victory in League Meeting

The University of Puget Sound easily won its third straight Evergreen Conference swim title at Ellensburg last weekend.

Coach Don Duncan's Loggers had 145 points, Central 74, Western 65, Eastern 31, and Whitworth 39. Pacific Lutheran was the only conference school to not enter a team.

Intramural Eligibility Rules Stated

Controversy has recently risen over who is eligible to play intramural sports. Jim Fox, UPS intramural chairman, quotes the following rule on eligibility taken from the intramural constitution:

(a) "A varsity letter is one received from a four year college or university offering a bachelors degree and four years of athletic eligibility.

"A man receiving one such letter will be ineligible to participate in that intramural sport the following year. A man receiving two or more such letters will remain ineligible to participate in that intramural sport.

"Exception: If a man letters as a freshman and sophomore he can lay out his junior year and play intramurals his senior year."

Rules concerning freshman letter winners from a college or university other than UPS and junior college transfers are as follows:

(b) "A transfer receiving a freshman letter in a four year college or university and then does not make the UPS varsity team will be eligible to participate in that intramural sport his sophomore year. A transfer from a junior college who has earned a letter or letters will be eligible to participate in that intramural sport if he does not make the varsity team.

(c) "Any man who suits up for a varsity game will be eligible to participate in that intramural sport that season.

(d) "Any man who turns out after the first varsity game, but does not suit up for the game, may become eligible for that intramural sport after dropping or being dropped from the squad and getting the approval of the head coach and the Administrative Board."

This rule applies to all intramural sports.

Arley Kangas Heads South For Baseball Training

Arley Kangas, University of Puget Sound graduate student, embarks on his second year of professional baseball as he gets ready to leave for the San Francisco Giants' minor league spring training camp at Casa Grande, Arizona.

Kangas, Northern Division baseball champion while at Washington State University, is listed as a catcher, but has also played several other positions.

UPS broke seven existing records and tied another:

200-yd. individual medley — Ron Jones, 2:25.3. (Old record, 2:31.3, Ron Jones, UPS, 1961.)

200-yd. backstroke — George Sickel, 2:24.2. (Old record, 2:26.8, Cardell, UBC, 1952.)

220-yd. freestyle — John Jewell, 2:14.6. (Old record, 2:23.4, Jack Snavely, UPS, 1958.)

400-yd. freestyle relay — UPS, 3:46.7 (Gary Dyer, Rick Perkins, Brad Bacon, John Seremeta). (Old record, 3:51.5, Eastern — Hand, Strom, Burger, Willmans, 1961.)

100-yd. freestyle — Brad Bacon, UPS, :55.1. (Old record, :56.5, Jack Snavely, UPS, 1958.)

100-yd. backstroke — George Sickel, 1:04.6. (Ties old record, 1:04.6, Cardell, UBC, 1952.)

440-yd. freestyle — John Jewell, 5:06.7. (Old record, 5:13.0, Olson, UBC, 1952.)

400-yd. medley relay — UPS, 4:18.4 (Sickel, Countryman, Dyer, Jewell). (Old record, 4:33.8, Western — Donovan, Kinkela, Hyatt, Coghill, 1961.)

Western's Dave Emery broke the other two records:

50-yd. freestyle — Emery, :24.0. (Old record, :24.5, Grayson Hand, EW, 1961.)

100-yd. butterfly — Emery, 1:01.3. (Old record, 1:05.7, Dave Handy, UPS, 1961.)

The Loggers might have broken league aqua records in the 100- and 200-yard breaststroke, but Norm Clark was not able to attend the meet.

The only seniors on the squad are Jones and Seremeta; Handy and Jerry Williams are juniors; Clark, George Teats, Stan Loe and Larry Wills are sophomores; and Jewell, Sickel, Dyer, Gary Bishop, Bruce Barnes, John Countryman, Perkins, and Bacon are freshmen.
